ITS THANK OFFERING

Interest Manifested by Conference of M. E. Church South.

AN ADDRESS BY BISHOP CANDLER

Fund to Be Used in Advancement of Education.

SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED

The session of the Baltimore annual conerence of the Methodist Episcopal Church South at Mount Vernon Place Church, this morning, was taken up almost exclusively with a movement in the interest of the twentieth century thank offering proposed by universal methodism. Bishop Warren A. Candler, the presiding officer, made the principal address. He dwelt at length upon the great wealth and resources of the United States and the south and said that the southern connection of the Methodist Church should not lag behind in its work for the fund.

The twentieth century offering is to be used in the advancement of education. The donations are to be made in consideration of God's mercies to the world during the century about to close, of the riches of His grace bestowed upon His church, and of what He has done through methodism for the human race in general. The Methodist Episcopal Church of the United States has undertaken to raise the sum of $20,000,000, undertaken to raise the sum of $20,000,000, an average of a little more than $7 per member; the British Wesleyan Church will raise $5,000,000, a per capita of $6,50; Irish methodism will subscribe $500,000, an average of $5; Australasian methodism, $00,000, or $5 per member; United Methodist Free Church, England, $500,000 on a membership of 100,000; Canadian methodism, $1,000,000, or $3,06 per member. The Methodist Episcopal Church South has undertaken to raise copal Church South has undertaken to raise $1,500,000, which is but a few cents more than $1 to each member. The grand total to be raised is $29,400,000, and all of this is to be spent in the endowment of universities and the establishment of schools.

Sum Should Be Doubled.

Bishop Candler strongly urged that the Southern Methodists should not be backward, especially when the amount to be raised by them is less per member than in any of the other connections. He said sum of $1,500,000 should be doubled. The bishop interspersed his serious remarks with a number of keenly humorous anec-with a number of keenly humorous anecdotes and illustrative stories. He spoke of the vast wealth of the United States, saying it had been estimated at ninety billions of dollars. Combined with the wealth of England, the English-speaking people could buy up the rest of the globe, and "have enough left to stock a good-sized farm." The churches of the United States and the British empire send out four-fifths of the missionaries in the field.

"It makes me tired," continued Bishop Candler, "to hear some of our Methodist preachers going around with a long face and shouting about how poor we are. We are not poor. We have the greatest plenty. We have better and more clothes than we used to have, and we have more to eat and better food than we had in former days. It is not poverty that is troubling the American people; it is the danger of deifying our worldly accumulations and throwing over our Lord. We are richer than any people on the globe."

Universal Peace.

Universal Peace.

Bishop Candler spoke of the peace that is coming over all the land. "War is dying." he declared. "And I don't base my remark on the conference that was held at the capital of the Netherlands, although that gathering was an index of the universal feeling ering was an index of the universal feeling that disputes of the future shall be settled by arbitration rather than by bloodshed. War is becoming too dangerous. Some people have said they thought it strange that the entire fleets at Manila and Santlago should have been destroyed. I'm not a naval expert, but I don't see anything strange about it. We have guns nowadays that are so terrible that when they hit a mark, something's got to happen. It's a case of the one who shoots first nowadays. The one that's hit is bound to go down. And war is too expensive. It costs ever so much money for a nation to even think of going to war.

much money for a nation to even think of going to war.

"We are badly behind in educational matters down south. I once wrote an editorial on the subject and pointed out the facts as they came to me and I concluded by saying: 'We brag too much and do too little.' When the proof came to me I saw the printer had inadvertently made the 'brag' read 'bray,' but I just left it that way.

"During the last few years, gentlemen, over $75,000,000 has been given to the educational institutions of this country in enover $40,000,000 has been given to the educational institutions of this country in endowments. Less than $5,000,000 of that amount went south of Mason and Dixon's line, and most of the $5,000,000 was for the negro institutions. Now, we do not begrudge the money spent upon the negro, but we do need a little more for the white neonle.

A Valuable Investment.

"Money spent on the boy is the most valuable investment that can be made. The dividends come to us in the shape of a man. The trouble is, and the danger that is threatening the American people is, that they are too willing to judge and measure everything by a monetary standare. We must not let that be. I asked $30,000 for the establishment of a church and school in Havana. I was told by some wealthy persons who were approached on the subject that the project was too extravagant. A few days later these very gentlemen invested much more than $30,000 in a cotten mill. It will be noticed that the concerns throughout the country which are offering dividends in money have all the resources they desire, while the institutions offering a return of spiritual guidance and benefit haven't what they actually need.

"We should make this thank offering an immebse one. It should be retrospective and thankful; prospective and courageous. The man who does not give shows that he loves what he's got more than what he is.

The time from the conclusion of Bishop Candler's address up to the hour of adgrenant was occupied in receiving and tecording subscriptions. About $15,000 was they are too willing to judge and measure

RESOLUTIONS OF PROTEST.

Scutiment of Colored Citizens on Pro-posed Public School Changes. A committee consisting of N. E. Weatheress, chairman; Miss E. F. G. Merritt, Rev. A. P. Miller and John A. Simms called on the Senate committee of the District of Columbia and presented resolutions of protest against the proposed change in the management of the colored schools in the District.

The resolutions were adopted at a mass meeting held by the colored patrons of the method is the colored patrons of the method in the Second Baptist Church, April 1. After reciting the establishment here of separate schools for colored children, and their development under the able management and fostering care of the colored superintendent and colored trustees from a very humble and unpromising beginning into a system equal in every respect to that anywhere, and after stating the fact that the colored parents have never requested a change from colored to white officers, the request is made that Congress so amend the pending mensure that provision be made for an increase of the proposed board of education from five to seven members, three of whom shall be colored, and for two superintendents, one of whom shall be colored and manage the colored schools.

In presenting the resolutions Mr. Weatherless said that the passage of the proposed bill, as drawn at present, would also add fuel to the unholy fire of prejudice which gave origin to the present dual public school system. The colored poople were public schools in the Second Baptist Church,
